Discussion

We introduce a compact, well-formatted figure and evaluate it across several conditions. The trend shown in the panel agrees with theory and improves on the baseline. Shaded regions and body text — 9 pt

part width · 84 mm · 1:1

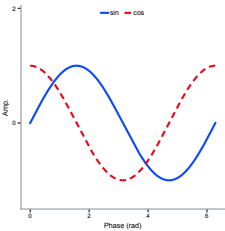

Fig. 2. Sample data; $n = 8$ per group.

Type for maths & symbols · ISO 80000-2 (followed by most journals)

italic — variables: x E T

roman — units, functions, e , π : s Hz sin

bold — vectors, matrices: F M

Set maths in the figure's own typeface — only the style (italic / roman / bold) carries meaning.
